CANDOR IN POLITICS.

It is a mistake to suppose that the vague, hasty impressions of honest men on large questions are pretty sure to be right in the main, and will only err in unimportant details. The errors and confusion into which well-intentioned men fall by applying to great public affairs their loose private notions of wisdom and justice, are not small, but enormous. Honest intentions will not supply the place of accurate knowledge, and in dealing with such matters, hard study should have as much a place as in any business in life. Men should take time and thought; they should prepare and qualify themselves before entering upon political action. Zeal without knowledge is as dangerous here as in other departments. It may be morally better to be zealous in politics, even on the wrong side, than to be indifferent about them, and yet the effect of such zeal may easily be worse than the effect of indifference. Blind turbulent zeal may be a good commencement, for it may put off its blind turbulence with better instruction, but it is not a good symptom when it lasts too long or becomes chronic, and our party heats, of which so many are proud, as if they proved political energy, last too long. And yet how can the student of politics, any more than the student of religion, be expected to show the quiet, impartial candor of the student of other subjects, or to be completely indifferent what results emerge from his investigations, provided the investigation is accurately conducted. If he is at all advanced in life he is likely to have committed himself publicly to some political creed; if he is young, his family are committed, and his teachers are unwilling to disturb the belief in which he has been educated. In order to study it in this spirit you must be content to give up all political earnestness, to suspend all activity in public life until you have obtained your results—a form of philosophy but little practiced by the multitude.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

At a conference held at the War Department on Saturday between Secretary Lincoln, the Secretary of the Interior, Generals Crook and Price, and the Commissioner of Indian Affairs it was agreed the hostiles, recently captured by General Crook in the Sierra Madras mountains, shall remain upon the San Carlos Reservation, virtually under the charge of the military. It would seem by this that Secretary Teller has finally been taught a little sense relative to the management of the murdering, scalping, savages of Arizona.

A New York millionaire confesses that a man who has $2,000,000 has all the money that for any personal good or pleasure he can spend. He states that at a dinner attended by a number of millionaires he was surprised to find how generally his views on this subject was accepted. And yet it is like pulling his eye teeth to get a man to retire on $2,000,000. If you don't believe it, try to get one to do it and give you a chance to make a fortune.

If the California papers are not mistaken relative to their wheat crop this year, they will have a surplus of a million and a half tons for export, which will place her the first, instead of the third, of the wheat-growing States. The European crop prospects indicate a good price for American cereals.

It has been found that worm-eaten, partly decayed logs make the best sounding-boards for pianos, and within a few years piano firms have sent agents through Connecticut to find fallen and partly decayed chestnut logs, and such timber has been sold at good prices after the owners have considered it entirely useless.

AN IMPORTANT DECISION.

Postmaster General Gresham Gives the Louisiana Lottery a Black-eye.

WASHINGTON, July 9.

Postmaster General Gresham will, to-morrow, render his decision in the Louisiana lottery case. A full text of the same was delivered to the Associated Press agent last night.

Postmaster General Gresham, after reviewing Postmaster General Keys' order, touching money orders and registered letters addressed to Dauphin, the New Orleans agent of the Louisiana lottery, which said money orders and letters Keys directed the Postmaster at New Orleans to return to the writers and senders. Gresham finds there can be no doubt but that Keys' order was clearly justified by the provision of the revised statutes, and his action was conclusive upon his subordinates and other departments of the Government, so long as the statutes remained in force.

The doctrine is now held that the Courts will not interfere by mandamus or injunction with an executive department in the discharge of its duties, unless they are in character purely ministerial. Keys issued the following order to the postmaster at New Orleans:

Washington, February 27, 1880.

Sir:—On the 13th of November, 1879, I issued an order addressed to you, forbidding the payment of any postal money order to M. A. Dauphin, and to return all registered letters addressed to them to postmasters at whose office they were mailed. This party having brought suit against me to enjoin the performance of this order, and having appealed the same to the Supreme Court of the United States, and having presented certificates to the Government and State officials of Louisiana, that he has complied with all legal requirements, and that the State, not being satisfied, from the evidence submitted to me, that the said Dauphin is engaged in conducting a scheme for obtaining money through the mails, by means of false and fraudulent pretensions and promises, I hereby authorize and direct the suspension of the order of November 13, 1879, so far as it relates to said Dauphin, until this case has been heard and determined by the Supreme Court of the United States.

(Signed): D. M. KEYS,

Postmaster General.

Continuing, Gresham says: It appears that a decision in the lower court being against him, Keys ordered the temporary suspension of his first order until the case should have been heard and determined by the tribunal of last resort. Keys' first order was not revoked or cancelled; it was simply temporarily suspended. The dismissal of the appeal, therefore, in vacation, by appellant's counsels, with the consent of the Solicitor-General, put an end to the suspension and restored to binding effect Keys' first order. The only question in the case was the constitutional power of Congress to enact the statute upon which Keys acted. Upon that question, Gresham says, he has no doubt the Supreme Court forced the constitutionality of the act, which declares: "No letter or circular concerning lotteries, so-called gift concerts, or other similar enterprises offering prizes, shall be carried in the mails." In view of this decision the constitutionality of the act applicable to this case cannot be seriously questioned. Gresham concludes: I have confined myself to matters as they appear from the records of the Department. The first order will, therefore, be executed as if the record had not been entered.

THE MORMON QUESTION.

What Colored George B. Godfrey Has to Say About It.

DES MOINES, Ia., July 9.

Col. Geo. S. Godfrey, a member of the Utah Commissioners, returned from the West last evening, and in an interview, he briefly outlined what, in his opinion, will be the ultimate effect of the Edmunds bill in accomplishing the purpose for which it was intended. "There are 160,000 people in Utah to-day," said Col. Godfrey; "of these, 140,000 are Mormons, and only 15,000 of these Mormons are polygamists. If the operation of the Edmunds bill is confined solely to those who practice polygamy, a professor of the Mormon religion, with only one wife, does not come within the scope of the law."

The work of the commission has been confined to the disfranchising of polygamists. The law provides that every citizen shall be registered before he shall vote, and if his name does not appear on the register he has no appeal, as female suffrage is one of the institutions, and a large number of women, more women indeed than men, have been prohibited from registering—the last along with their lords and masters so far as possible. The commissioners have endeavored to keep the name of every polygamist from appearing on the list. The Mormons are disposed to interpose every obstacle to obstruct the enforcement of the law, which to them is extremely odious. They have made up ten test cases which will be carried to the courts as soon as possible, and the night before I started for the East, writs were served on the commissioners.

Wisconsin Democrats Alarmed by the Temperance Question.

MILWAUKEE, July 9.

Postmaster General Gresham will, at the temperance meeting yesterday, at which Mayor Stowell, democratic in politics, but of strong temperance views, spoke. There were several addresses, in which it was hinted that the prohibition party of the country was preparing to nominate a Presidential ticket in 1884. It is said the movement has acquired considerable headway in Ohio, Indiana, Alabama, Maine, and other States, for an organization for that purpose is going rapidly forward.

Another meeting is to be held to-morrow night to form a State alliance. Many prominent citizens have expressed a determination to attend. It is understood that the chairman of the Wisconsin State Democratic Committee, addressed a letter to Mayor Stowell concerning his action with the temperance people. A convention of Democratic leaders will soon be held in this city, to consider what attitude the Democratic party in Wisconsin shall take on the liquor question. The people of the whole State are aroused.

Washington, February 27, 1880.

Sir:—On the 13th of November, 1879, I issued an order addressed to you, forbidding the payment of any postal money order to M. A. A Warm Reception.

GREENSBURG, Ky., July 9.

Last night Marshal Henry of this place, with Ben Bagley and four others, started to arrest James Owen, a desperate character, on a felony warrant. They reached the desperado's house at midnight, and found he had gathered a party of his friends to resist the arrest. Fifty shots were exchanged, and Marshal Henry was killed and Bagley mortally wounded. The rest of the party fled. It is supposed that some of the others were wounded. Owen is still at large.

Death of a Prominent New Englander.

WORCESTER, Mass., July 9.

He was born in North Stonington, Conn., in 1809; was a member of the Chicago Convention, and was elected to the 39th and 40th Congresses. He was the author of a volume entitled "Richmond Hill," and other poems of the prehistoric natures of ancient America.

The Remains of Archbishop Purcell Lying in State.

CINCINNATI, July 9.

Thousands of people viewed the remains of Archbishop Purcell at his residence yesterday. The streets in the neighborhood of the cathedral were so densely packed that it was necessary to call a large body of police out to prevent a dangerous crush. The body was placed in the cathedral to-day. It has been decided to issue tickets of admission to the funeral Wednesday to prevent a crush.

More of a Nasty Mess.

CHICAGO, July 9.

Guiteau's sister has brought another action in the Courts of this country against her divorced husband, G. R. Scoville, asking that he be restrained from visiting her place of abode, and from defrauding her of her property. That he be compelled to contribute to her support and that of her child, and to give her the assassin's effects.

Dynamite Conspirators Found Guilty.

DUBLIN, July 9.

At the Sligo Assizes Rogerson, Tanzy, Kelly and Houghton, implicated in a murder conspiracy, were found guilty. Two informers testified that the prisoners and a number of others, obeying the orders of a secret society, attempted in March, 1882, to blow up the Weston House in Galway. If they had destroyed the house and killed the inmates they were to receive 500 pounds; failing to take life they were to receive 300 pounds. Five pounds of dynamite exploded on a window-sill did little damage, owing to the lack of skill of the conspirators. The Judge in summing up, spoke strongly against the prisoners.

More Dynamite Unearthed.

COX, July 9.

The detectives exhumed at Inchicraggan a box containing 6,000 dynamite cartridges, which was a part of the proceeds of the great dynamite robbery in this city two years ago. The knowledge that a large quantity of dynamite was in bad hands since the robbery, has been a cause of continual anxiety to the authorities.

The Coming Rife Match in England.

LONDON, July 9.

The Observer says it is clearly evident that the coming rifle meeting at Wimbledon, will be the most successful for many years. The Canadian team took up their quarters at their encampment. The interest centers in the American team, and it is much regretted that the Americans refused the offer of a camp similar to that taken by the Canadians.

Defiant Communists.

MARSEILLES, July 9.

At a meeting attended by 100 persons held to day to protest against the sentence recently pronounced upon Louise Michel, a resolution was adopted pledging those present to murder the Jurymen who convicted Louise Michel at the first opportunity. The author of the resolution will be prosecuted.

A Bloody Affray Near San Gabriel, California.

LOS ANGELES, July 9.

Wm. Smith, Ed. Cummings, Geo. F. Smith and Warker, four men engaged in a shooting affray near San Gabriel last night, were brought to this city this evening, and gave bail in the sum of $1,000 each for examination. Wm. Kimball, the man who fired the shot that killed Avise, was held for examination at Elmont. Wm. Smith, the man on whose place the shooting took place, says that Avise and his wife came to his place about 6 o'clock last evening, armed with a double-barreled shot-gun and three revolvers, and ordered him off. In the dispute that followed Mrs. Avise took up the gun and fired at Wm. Kimball, who knocked the gun aside. Avise drew his revolver to shoot Kimball, when the latter fired a shot-gun, the charge lodging in Avise's head and killing him instantly. Smith claims that the killing was done in self-defense. The whole difficulty grew out of the fact that Avise, who had been a tenant on the place before the purchase by Smith, claimed part of the crop. All the parties are well known in that section of the country.

A Destructive Fire in Oregon.

PORTLAND, Or., July 9.

Great destruction to timber and other property is reported along the Lower Columbia river and tributaries by heavy fires raging furiously for some days, with no prospect of being extinguished. Logging camps, lumber, fences and houses have been destroyed; also thousands of cords of wood. It is the greatest fire ever experienced in this country. Seven miles of railroad and one locomotive, below Oak Point was burned together with a large logging camp belonging to G. W. Weidler. It is reported that Weidler's loss is $100,000 worth of logs and standing timber, and probably $200,000 worth of his property is destroyed altogether.

Mrs. Perkins' auction will continue to-morrow. See 50-cent column.

Read the GAZETTE 50-cent column and go and settle with Smith & Noyes.

The Board of County Commissioners have ordained that no more paper shall be thrown in the streets.

The gratifying and refreshing properties of Queen's soda water render it the leading Summer drink.

J. D. Pollard is raising hogs with other milkmen by compelling them to buy more cows or sell a less number of gallons. There is no profit in Mr. Pollard's corral.

A car-load of fast horses, belonging to Matt Allen, passed west last evening. The car contained two trotters and one runner, and they have been entered throughout the Pacific coast circuit.

Chelovich & Co. have acquired a reputation for square dealing as wholesale and retail dealers in invigorating liquors that might be envied by a more pretentious house. You will always find their goods exactly as recommended.

Everything and anything to be found in a first-class hardware store can be had at Knowles & Bainbridge's on Commercial Row. It will pay you to thoroughly examine their stock before sending below or purchasing elsewhere.

No better variety or quality of groceries can be found in any family store than are kept by J. K. Everett, on the corner of Second and Sierra streets, near the Baptist Church. Mr. Everett does not deal in auction goods. Satisfaction guaranteed.

The impression is fast gaining ground that Levy & Bro.'s, on Virginia street, is the place to purchase dry goods. Their stock of carpets is unexcelled, and you are never obliged to wait for someone to attend to your wants, their clerks always being found at the front.

A mean lawyer came into the GAZETTE office to-day and asked liberty to look over the files. After going through four or five volumes he arose to go, saying: "I didn't find the needle, but I am much obliged for the hay stack all the same."

The store of A. Lindley & Co., on Virginia street, is rapidly becoming a wholesale house of no mean proportions. Their retail business is also daily increasing. No man connected with the store is ever seen sitting down between the hours of 7 A. M. and 9 P. M.

Whenever you want a roast such as would make a Johnny Bull leave a plum pudding; a boiling piece that will cook thoroughly done in an hour, or a better steak than can be found at Delmonico's, you should visit the meat market of J. D. Pollard, on Virginia street.

George Becker of the Pacific brewer is daily increasing both his wholesale and retail trade in his unexcelled beer. A visit to his Granite saloon, on Commercial Row, will convince any competent judge that Mr. Becker knows his business, and is not stingy of his grain.

The Palace Hotel, Perkins and White proprietors, is in all its departments second to none this side of San Francisco. Every man in any way connected with this popular house, is obliging, agreeable and thoroughly understands his business. Their patrons always return.

Flavoring and Fine Extracts.
Reno can help an old friend by giving a trial to Geo. H. Taylor & Co.'s flavoring extracts and cosmetics. Mark Parish, who lived here so long, is half the firm, and they are making a heroic effort to get started. They have quite a little trade already, and are making quite nice goods. Their extract of lemon, vanilla, etc., is being quite extensively used. They put up bay rum and cosmetics for barber's use from the finest materials and in nice shape. Bar syrups, Jams, Jellies, essence of peppermint, etc. Florida water, machine oil and such goods they have plenty of. Nevada people are not getting very rich as a rule, but they might as well help each other a little as to pay everything to strangers. Reno merchants, who are sending for goods, ought to give Mark a trial, and customers here could easily ask for his goods in preference to others.

A Honeymoon at Honey Lake.

On Saturday morning a quiet wedding at Glendale united for life Miss Joanne O'Leary and F. H. Lindsey. Mr. Lindsey has extensive possessions in Lassen county, and the new family will at once be established on the peaceful shores of Honey Lake.

Artesian Wells in Colorado.
The number of flowing wells in the vicinity of Denver is becoming so large that the water company is getting alarmed lest the abundance of water will ruin the value of their property.

A RICH FIND.
A Wonderful Mining Property in Arizona.

The Yuma Sentinel, in predicting that should the mill meet with no disaster, the output of the Crip mine will not be less than $1,000 per day, describes the wonderful property as follows: The ledge is fully 125 feet wide in places on the surface, and can be distinctly traced beyond its side lines. The cappings and ledge matter cut by the tunnel are 150 feet wide and give good No. 1 ore, ranging from 16 to 27 feet between walls, all pay. This rich body of ore is known to extend beyond 300 feet in length, and how much more can only be determined by further explorations. In addition to this great mass of ore uncovered, there is an immense quantity of $20 rock, enough to run a mill for years. Rock going $20 per ton in this mine can be worked to an immense profit, as the ore is easily mined, scarcely any powder being used at all. Four men can take down fifty tons of mineral per day. The $20 rock, however, is only a reserve, as there is sufficient ore of higher grade to keep the mill busy for two years to come.

MYSTERIOUS.

A Remarkable Bottle of Old Holland Gin and its Virtue as a Barometer.

Chase & Thyes keep a bottle of gin filled with pitch-pine splinters for the use of promiscuous customers, so to speak, which is one of the best barometers on the coast. About 3 o'clock in the morning it begins to thicken up and turns to a very dark color, until 6 o'clock, when it will hardly run from the bottle. This phenomenon is sure to be followed by a thunder shower some time during the day. A vivid flash of lightning will set the gin to boiling up of unlike water from a spring. Another singular feature about it is that during the cool hours of night the liquid gradually grows warm until it reaches a temperature of from 92 to 98 degrees, but as the sun comes up and the room becomes warmer the gin begins to cool, and usually at 3 or 4 P. M. it reaches about 40 degrees. Can some scientist explain the phenomenon?

The Sierra Valley Celebration.

Beckworth spread itself on the Fourth, and made the woods ring with its celebration. The Eureka band, one of the best on the coast, was there and gave music to the dancers, who had an immense platform in Mapes' grove. Hon. C. Mulholland of Greenville was orator, and Miss Leggate poet. C. Huntley read the Declaration of Independence. There were games, sack races and other sports. Mapes was represented by Sheriff Emmitt and wife, G. W. Mapes and wife, Will Lemmons and several others. Sheriff Emmitt and Baldy (G. H.) Cunningham distinguished themselves at the lunch table. Everyone from this section had a royal good time.

A Wicked Weapon.
An Apache bow and arrows, with string of sinews, attracted considerable attention at the depot yesterday morning. The bow was five feet long, highly embellished, and was said to have been found on the Gila river in Arizona. A person who has never witnessed the effect of these villainous weapons, cannot have any conception of their terrible effectiveness. The writer of this has seen large sized cattle killed by the Bannocks, with a three-foot bow, and arrows made wholly of greasewood; the points of which had been hardened with fire.

Train Ditched.

Yesterday afternoon as conductor Thrall's train, pulled by Jack Hutchinson, approached the Mound House, on the down trip, the locomotive and two cars were thrown from the track by a switch having been either maliciously or carelessly left open. An ore train arriving from Virginia soon after, the ditched engine and cars were taken on the track again, and arrived in Reno but four minutes late.

Rich Indians.

A Washoe Indian recently offered a man in Carson $350 in coin for a house and lot. The Indian said that he had accumulated that sum in the past five years, and now wanted to live with his squaw and two papooses like white people. He stated to Sam Davis there was a dozen Indians right about Carson who could dig up from $250 to $1,000 each.

A Valuable Hint to Farmers.

Harness should never be kept in stables which are not entirely free of manure. The ammonia thus produced is rapidly absorbed by the leather, and the result is said to be the same as if saturated with strong lye. It has the effect of rotting the harness thus exposed, and will consequently remain sound a comparatively brief time.

Scorpion Julee on Horseback.

A drunken vaquero created a sensation on Commercial Row yesterday morning by riding his bronco through town at the top of his speed, and giving a regular Apache war-whoop at every jump. He was taken in by Deputy Sheriff Melvin, and dumped into the tank over the river.

PERSONALS.

W. S. Hobart was a passenger for Virginia this morning.

General R. M. Clarke has gone to Belmont on law business.

M. Ayer of the San Francisco Farmer and Dealer is in town to-day.

Governor Adams came in from the East this morning, en route to Carson.

R. F. Morrow, the San Francisco stock manipulator, came up from below yesterday morning and went to Virginia. What's up on the Comstock?

Hon. John P. Irish, editor of the Reno Times, spent the day in Reno yesterday. He came up to meet friends who arrived from the East this morning.

George Cadwaleader the noted "sleekens" lawyer of Sacramento, and Mr. Clarke of the same place, arrived from below this morning, and left on the stage for Susanville.

Matt Allen, formerly of Carson and Reno, came in from Salt Lake this morning, en route to San Francisco. Matt has a fine stable of horses, and will go through the Pacific coast circuit with them.

Willie Cowen, grandson of the late Abram Curry of Carson, paid a visit to Reno yesterday. He is one of Wells-Fargo's messengers on the C. & C., running from the Mound House to Bishop Creek.

Congressman G. W. Cassidy arrived from San Francisco yesterday and stopped over at the Palace. He carries his repeated honors with dignity, and without pomposity. Mr. Cassidy left this morning for his home in Eureka.

A White of the Palace Hotel, John F. Myers and Louis Dean, leave to-morrow morning for Clover Valley and other cool retreats at the North. It will be a jolly party. About six mountain trout are enough for a small family.

Hon. M. S. Bonnfield of Winnemucca went to Carson yesterday to be ready for the Pardon Board, which meets to-day. Mr. B. is the attorney for Charley Harris, an 18-year man, and Mrs. Lovelace, the Paradise Valley stock speculator, who awaits a new trial.

Judge L. B. Marshall and wife of Reno, accompanied by A. C. Marshall and wife of San Jose, left to-day for an extended camping trip, via Carson and Silver Mountain, to the Big Trees and Yosemite; returning by Hope Valley and Lake Tahoe. They expect to be gone about six weeks.

TRUCKEE ITEMS.

Interesting Jobs From a Prosperous Section.

The following items are taken from the Republican of July 7:

The sport at Webber Lake is now as fine as has been known for years. The fish bite ravenously at anything, and it is no trick at all to yank out from a half dozen to fifty before breakfast. A large number of visitors are now stopping at the hotel.

Tummy Christie, a well-known neophyte minister of San Francisco, put in an appearance in Truckee Wednesday morning. His wife has for some time past been employed as a variety performer at the Pavilion Theater. When Christie went to his wife's room, he discovered her in flagrante delicto with a Truckee young man. The outraged husband considerably allowed the latter to get out of the room, and then beat his wife unmercifully. He was arrested and tried yesterday evening, and this morning boarded the train for San Francisco. The affair created quite a sensation, and the moral wave of Truckee's society has been rippling considerably for a day or two.

"Blue Monday" was not a comparison to Thursday last. Front street presented the appearance of a mammoth city hospital after an accident. The "stiffs" were shovelled at every convenient place the entire length of Front street, the saloon keepers looked sleepy and tired, and the festive bull-puncher, logger or mill man, who was endeavoring to "brace up," looked more disgusted than patriotic. It will take several days yet before the effects of the Fourth will have entirely disappeared.

Blue Monday.

Harness should never be kept in stables which are not entirely free of manure. The ammonia thus produced is rapidly absorbed by the leather, and the result is said to be the same as if saturated with strong lye. It has the effect of rotting the harness thus exposed, and will consequently remain sound a comparatively brief time.

Nevada State Mill.

S. C. Fogg starts up his new mill to-morrow, and begins to grind wheat. He has a stream of water 12 feet wide and four deep, which gives him power enough to run everything crazy. It has 10 feet head. He has already made a little flour, and it was of a very fine quality.

The Fourth at Lake City.

Lake City celebrated Independence Day. G. W. Hall acted as Grand Marshal, Rev. Calvin Anderson of Goose Creek was chosen Orator and L. H. Garret President of the Day.

Chicago Merchant's Express. After he had been absent in and about with his strength, appetite, nor ambition left and the doctors couldn't help me, two bottles of Parker's Glycerine Tonic cured me completely. M. B. Westcott, Lamp Mfr., Chicago. July 21.

James Moffat of Sierra Valley is better. He has been suffering from a low form of fever, and was so low at one time that he made his will. When he got better and began to kick up his heels he tore it up.
